ELEVENTH YEAR

PRESIDENT SHOUTS SUMMONS TO 'FORWARD-LOOKING MEN'

'We Will All Be Behind You' Ex-President Taft Greeting to Successor, Scene at Inauguration of Woodrow Wilson Precedent Breaking And Intensely Human

MEN WILSON SELECTED TO MAKE UP HIS CABINET

William Jennings Bryan, secretary of state.

James Clark McReynolds, attorney general.
Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy.
David Franklin Houston, secretary of agriculture.
William Cox Redfield, secretary of commerce.
Albert S. Burleson, postmaster general.

Washington, March 4.—Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey was inaugurated today as President of the United States and Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana its vice president.

Under the dome of the nation's capitol, in the presence of a countless cheering concourse of his fellow citizens, the new president raised a hand toward a prophetic sun that burst through dissolving clouds and pronounced the occasion a day of dedication, not of triumph.

While the President's concluding inaugural words were tossing in tumultuous waves of applause the retiring President clasped his hand and enlisted as a patriotic servant in the ranks of private citizenship.

"Mr. President," said Mr. Taft, his face beaming with a broadening smile, "I wish you a successful administration and the carrying out of your aims. We will all be behind you."

"Thank you," said President Wilson, and he turned to shake the hand of his secretary of state, William Jennings Bryan. There they stood—Taft, a standard bearer of a vanquished party after sixteen years of power; Bryan, persistent plodder of progressive Democracy thrice defeated, accepting a commission from a new chieftain, and Wilson, the man of the hour, victorious, mustering, as he expressed it, "not the forces of party, but the forces of humanity."

The military and civic pageant that followed this climax of the historic day was more than five hours passing in review. Leaving Capitol Hill at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the last of the marching thousands had not doffed their colors to the President in the court of honor until long after darkness had fallen.

President Wilson stood for more than an hour under the glare of myriads of brilliant electric lights as he greeted thousands in the long line, among them the host of Princeton students, who, as they passed before him, shouted a hearty greeting that he never can forget.

Wilson With Bared Head
The procession began from the senate wing to the great amphitheatre at the east front of the Capitol. After Chief Justice White, followed by the justices of the supreme court had entered the inaugural stand, President Taft and President-elect Wilson appeared in the doorway of the Capitol. Their presence was the signal for prolonged cheers from the crowd assembled in the wide esplanade and the huge grand stand and perched fringe like on the roof of the Capitol from one end to the other. Reaching the stand, the President-elect stood for several moments with head bared, acknowledging the plaudits of the crowd. Then with the President, Speaker Clark and the justices, he seated himself to await the solemn ceremony.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Marriage licenses have been issued to the following couples by the county clerk's office:

James F. Hansen and Elizabeth Christensen, Newton.
Andrew H. Jardine and Phoebe Griffin, Clarkston.
Leon Clarke, Newton; Frances Anderson, Bancroft.
Elmer Jackson, Randolph; Sarah J. B. Scott, Salt Lake.
R. Milton B. Maughan and Margaret G. Hall, Wellsville.

Throughout his address President Wilson was cheered frequently by the people immediately in front of the stand, who could hear him. They were permitted to crowd in the space cleared just before he began his speech. The applause was particularly emphatic when President Wilson declared:

"The scales of heedlessness have fallen from our eyes. We have made up our minds to square the process of our national life again with the standards we so proudly set up at the beginning and have always carried at our hearts. Our work is a work of restoration."

A. C. TEAM TO MEET U. OF U.

Aggies Will Play University Basket Ball Quintet at Smart Gymnasium Tomorrow Evening

Friday night, March 7, the basket ball boys of the Agricultural College will again meet with their rivals of the University of Utah. Both teams are said to be in the pink of conditions and much interest is being manifested in the coming game.

The U. of U. players have already won two games with Provo and one from the Aggies this season, but the boys on the hill are confidently expecting to retrieve their past misfortune at the game Friday night. The team has just returned from a trip to Salt Lake City and Provo. While away they won one game from Provo, and lost the one stated above to the U. of U. Altogether the local boys have made a highly creditable showing thus far during the season, and are rapidly rounding into the

RIVER WATER DISAPPEARING

Scarcity of Water in Logan River Cause For Much Alarm on Part of Farmers and Milling Companies

The North Field farmers and the Thatcher Mill and Elevator company and the Central Milling company are somewhat agitated over the scarcity of water in Logan river. For several days past, the milling companies have been troubled with getting sufficient water to run their mills. Over half the time they are shut down waiting for the water to back up in the canal before the wheels can be turned. The water at the Logan river bridge is lower than it has been in years. Just enough is let go down the river channel to supply water for the fish. The shortage has been noticeable since the closing of the state dam. Two reasons are advanced for the low water. One is that the water is sinking through the gravel bank which forms the west wall of the dam and the other is that the water in all probability is used during the night time by the new power plant to develop power and is stored during the day time. Of course this is the season of the year when the water in the streams is the lowest. There isn't an over supply for power purposes and while the latter reason may be the cause for shortage below, the milling companies and farmers say they will not permit of their rights to be interfered with. An effort has been made to determine if the water is seeping through the delta but no trace is found where any additional water or new supply is rising below the dam.

Official assassination as a method of removing persons undesirable to those in power in Mexico reached its climax when Francisco I. Madero, Jr., ex-president, and Jose Pino Suarez, ex-vice president, were shot to death while being taken to the penitentiary in Mexico City. General Huerta, provisional president, reported that the deaths occurred by accident during an attempt by certain Madero supporters to rescue the prisoners. Above is shown a picture of the slain ex-president and his wife on the left, his father, Francisco I. Madero, Sr., in the middle and Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson, representing the United States in the troubled country.

SCHAUB MACHINE COMPANY STANDS AS FIRST AID TO AUTOMOBILISTS

Local Concern Well Equipped in All Departments And Offers The Best to Be Had in Machine And Auto Repair.

There is a plain statement of facts which we recommend our readers to carefully consider, in the advertisement in this issue by the Schaub Machine Company, which stands today among Logan's leading industries, as the peer of any like business in Utah. As a matter of fact, it is generally conceded that Logan has the finest except in cities as large as Salt Lake. Any make of car can be completely overhauled and rebuilt by the Schaub Machine Co. has that line of cars, said to be the biggest values of Studebaker cars, in that the Schaub Machine company handles that line of cars—the biggest values for the money of any line anywhere garage in the state. The machine shop plant of machinery is also a matter of wonder to our home people and to visitors, because of its completeness. Between the garage and the machine shop department, a service results for automobile owners that is not rendered elsewhere, —and carries a complete stock of parts for ordinary repairs. Studebaker's guarantee is behind the Schaub Machine company service and guarantee—and that means complete satisfaction.

The Schaub Machine company sales department, under the management of Mr. A. S. Meserve, than whom there is no better known or better liked man in the valley, is starting the season with seventy-five new Studebaker cars. Mr. Meserve's optimism on the popularity of the Studebaker line is so great, and his knowledge of comparative car values so broad, that he is predicting one hundred new Studebaker cars for this territory during 1913. The automobile has become just as much a necessity to our farmers of today, as were the farm wagons of yesterday. The auto has ceased to be a pleasure vehicle alone; it is just as much a money maker for the farmer as the

STEEL BRIDGE FOR WEST SIDE

County Commissioners Are Being Urged To Make Much Needed Improvement Near the Junction

One of the many contemplated improvements of the county commissioners this summer, is the installation of a new steel bridge across Bear river near Cache Junction. This bridge is to be constructed at a cost of approximately $12,000 if present plans mature. The people who are directly benefited by the improvement are the tax payers and citizens of Newton and Clarkston, for it is over this bridge that they market all their produce, using the Junction as their shipping point. For years the old bridge has served the purpose for which it was built, and has served it well, but it has practically outlived its usefulness. It is in such a state of deterioration that the necessity of a new bridge is imperative.

The approach to the bridge on either side for considerable distance is

THE FLAG HUNG AT HALF MAST

The Unkindest Cut of All was the Attitude of the Officials at the Court House

There was not much jubilation in the big city of Logan on Inauguration Day, as a result of which there has been voiced much dissatisfaction in many circles. Aside from the trio of shots by Hon. Jed M. Blair and the lone flag in evidence by Harry Stony one would not have known that a Democratic President was taking the oath of office. We do not know where Jed got the gun but some one said it was the old gun that a retired county official used several years ago to enter a box car to capture a hold up after said holdup had escaped, the said gun being an article that had not "gone off" for forty years. If the use of the said gun augurs as well for the democratic president as it did for this certain Democratic official in his pursuit for renomination, it is safe to say that the old melody "Hard Times Come Again No More," will be the national anthem.

The unkindest cut of all was the (Continued on page four)

MUST MAINTAIN PUBLIC LIBRARY

Mr. Carnegie Will Provide Funds For Structure if Citizens Will Provide Maintenance Fund

Citizens generally in Logan are taking a keen interest in the matter of a public library and are watching with much concern the movements looking toward this end. Some of those most active are positive in their statements that Mr. Carnegie will give us a library if we will maintain it. The only obstacle, it would seem then, is whether the taxpayers are willing to carry an additional library tax to their already heavy burden of taxation. For a $25,000 library a $2500 maintenance fund is required. This can be met with a one mill tax and by such a tax, for every $40 now paid in taxes, $1 a year would be added. From this it can plainly be seen that the average citizen would be required to pay not more than a dollar for the upkeep and maintenance of a public reading room that would be a credit to the city.

With the reduction in taxation in 1914 on account of the end of the sewer tax it need not lead to an increase in taxation. The following towns now have, or are providing free public libraries: Salt Lake, Ogden, Provo, Brigham, Tooele, Mant, Cedar, Eureka, Richfield, Richmond, Garland and St. George. From the above one can readily see that Logan would simply be following the example of many of the smaller cities of the state in this matter. The library is to be a book place for all trades, occupations, and undertakings, giving information to the farmer, carpenter blacksmith, banker, dentist and merchant. As all tax payers would contribute to the institution, it is plain that the public library is but a co-operative way of buying books. From the present pulse of the people, it is questionable if there are any citizens who would object to assisting in providing a place for the boys, girls, men and women to secure a good reading place.

MUST SELECT HITCHING POSTS

At the regular meeting of the city commissioners Tuesday evening plumbers license bonds were approved from H. Wadman and D. Vernon Anderson.

An ordinance was passed making it an offense for persons to tie teams to hitching posts, trees or fences on either of the following streets: On Main street between Third North and Second South streets; on Center and First North streets between First East and First West streets. Persons offending against this ordinance will be liable to a fine of not more than $25.
